PRODUCERS AND REPRESENTATIVES INVITED TO LISTENING SESSIONS

Sessions to Discuss Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Study

Harrisburg, Pa. – The Center for Dairy Excellence will host dairy listening sessions next week in Indiana and Lebanon Counties to share the preliminary findings from the Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Study, being conducted by Dr. Andrew Novakovic, Dr. Mark Stephenson and Dr. Chuck Nicholson, and gather perspective from the industry on the dairy study findings. Dairy farmers and other industry stakeholders are invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

Dr. Andrew Novakovic, E.V. Baker Professor of agricultural economics and director of land grant programs at the Cornell Dyson School of Business, and Dr. Mark Stephenson, director of dairy policy analysis at the University of Wisconsin, will share the findings and provide insight, while gathering input from the audience on the study and their observations.

The first session is being held Wednesday, September 13, from 7 p.m. – 9 p.m. in the Southeast Hall of the Lebanon Valley Expo Center, 80 Rocherty Road, Lebanon, PA 17042. The second will be held on Thursday, September 14, from 10 a.m. – 12 p.m. at the Conference Center at the Kovalchick Complex, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, 711 Pratt Drive, Indiana, PA 15705.

More information about the listening sessions can be found online at the Center for Dairy Excellence. Click on “Dairy Study Listening Sessions” under upcoming events. Pre-registration is not required to attend, as the meeting will only include light snacks. For more information, please contact the Center for Dairy Excellence at 717-346-0849 or email Heidi Zimmerman at hzimmerman1@centerfordairyexcellence.org.
