SAVE THE DATE FOR THE 2019 PENNSYLVANIA DAIRY SUMMIT

Updated Program to Include New Additions, Sponsorships Available for Sessions

Harrisburg, Pa. – The 2019 Pennsylvania Dairy Summit will be held on February 5 and 6, 2019 at the Lancaster Marriot in downtown Lancaster, Pa. The Professional Dairy Managers of Pennsylvania and Center for Dairy Excellence host this premier dairy conference annually for dairy producers and industry professionals, offering a mix of management training, industry insight, networking and inspiration.

This year's program features well-known "Dairy Coach" Tom Wall, who will share his perspective on helping farms become more productive while focusing on its people. Dairy producer John Brubaker, who moved from Pennsylvania to Buhl, Idaho, and owns Knott-Run Dairy, a 300-cow operation nationally recognized for its milk quality standards, will share a showcase of his business. Other speakers and program topics are featured on www.padairysummit.org. More information will be released in the coming months.

New for this year, the traditional banquet on Tuesday night will be replaced with dinner on-your-own to create an opportunity for dairy producers and industry professionals to have the night to network and explore the heart of Lancaster County's scene. If interested, Summit attendees, sponsors and exhibitors can reserve private venues at the Marriott Conference Center, on a first come, first served basis, or book one of the many restaurants in the city to host events that evening.

Registration information will be made available in November. Sponsorship and exhibitor forms are now available. Please consider supporting program sessions and keynote speakers for this conference.
